PATIENT'S NAME: David Saling

DATE: Sept 1, 1977

1. Treatments given at home are at the patient's own risk. Reactions are rare, but do occur.

2. Have antidotes: Benadryl injection, Adrenalin injection, cortisone injection.

3. Symptoms of reaction: hives, acute attack of hay fever or asthma, tight throat--can't breathe, turning blue, flushing, perspiring heavily, nausea, vomiting, dizziness, collapse.

Mild reaction: Benadryl-inject content of syringe into muscle,
accident injection into a vessel
is not harmful.

Severe reaction: Adrenalin
.3cc subcutaneously--under skin
in opposite arm, place tourni-quet above injection site. Also take Benadryl and cortisone injection. When in doubt it is safe to take the antihistamine
and cortisone.

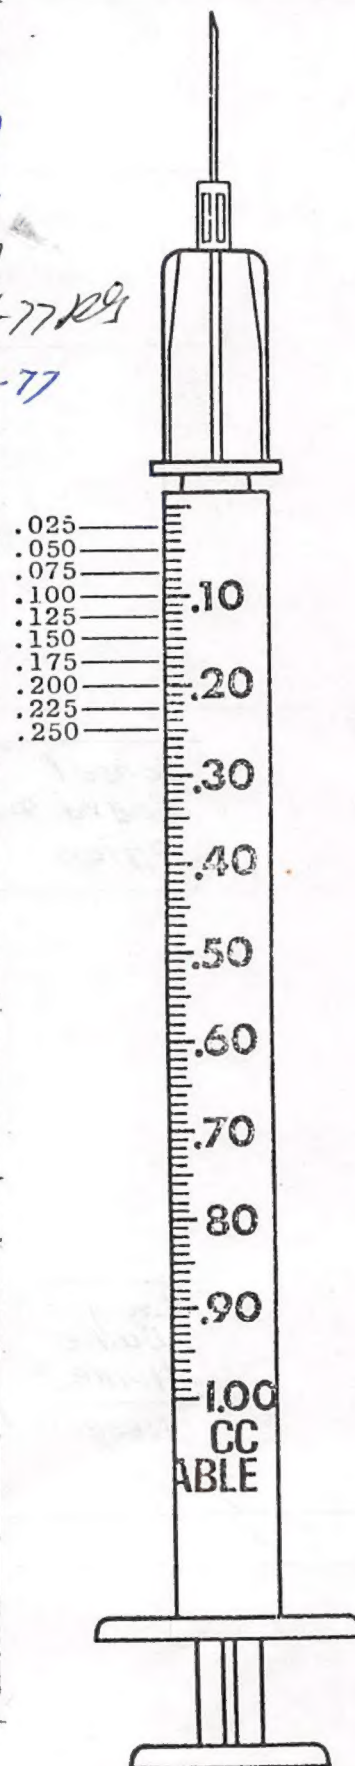

4. Keep solutions in refrigerator (not freezer).

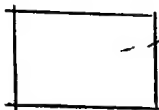

5. Clean skin with alcohol, inject about $\frac{1}{2}$ the length of the needle under the skin, withdraw plunger a little to be sure you are not into a vessel and inject.

6. Volume of injection not to exceed .25-.30cc.

7. If reaction as large as a 25¢ piece do not increase dose. If as large as a 50¢ piece reduce dose to previous level.

8. Call my office or bring patient to Emergency room of Utah Valley Hospital if a severe reaction occurs.
